of prominent citizens have already joined.

Among the many organizations in West Point, "The Chapter of the U. D. C.," bids fair to be one of the most interesting. At the first meeting, Mrs. R. J. Palmer was elected President; Mrs. H. I. Lewis, 1st Vice-pres.; Mrs. T. H. Edwards, 2nd Vice-pres.; Mrs. T. H. Edwards, 2nd Vice-pres.; Mrs. P. B. Hughes, Treasurer: Mrs. W. R. Broaddiss, R. Sectetary: Mrs. W. L. Eastwood, Cor. Secretary; Mrs. W. L. Eastwood, Cor. Secretary; Mrs. Geo. Field and Mrs. Geo. W. Wingman, Historians; Mrs. W. H. Healy, Registrar; Mrs. M. M. Puller, Chairman of Com. on Credentials; Mrs. Joe Bland, Mrs. A. F. Hargave and Miss Bessle Palmer, committee to formulate a constitution and by-laws. The following were unanimously elected honorary members: Mrs. J. L. Baytop, Mrs. R. P. Green, Mrk. K. P. Howerton, With much enthusiasm, the meeting adjourned to meet in the home of Mrs. Albert Robinson, April 18th.

In recognition of the great service renefered the town of West Point by Mr. Chas. S. York, of Baltimore, Maryland, as engineer in planning and completing the water works, several citizens of West Point, as a slight token of their appreciation, have presented Mr. York with a Knight Templar's Jowel.

The town, which was seriously threatened by a conflagration about a year ago, has not only fully recovered from that blow to its business, but has taken precautions to prevent a recurrence of such a disaster. The new water works system has just been completed, and the pressure of water from the elevated tower has been tested with highly satisfactory results. The tower is 100 feet above the street and is of 65,000 gallons capacity, fed from artesjan wells, from which water is pumped into it. The natural pressure was tested a few days ago with the result that a regulation hose stream was thrown over the tower of the singonic Hall. Besides this, the pressure can be considerably augmented by applying the force of the steam pump to the pipe line.

Water mains have been laid all over the town, the largest The Chapter of the U. D. C.,

Careless Letter-Writers.

Ten million pieces of mail went to the serious accident to the means of apportution, like the burning of a mail ing serious accident to the means of transportation, like the burifing of a mail car, for example, there is need for scarcely a miss in the safe delivery of mail matter—and if delivery is not accomplished, ample means are provided for return to the senders.

The chief difficulty, the superintendent says, is found in the failure of senders to give their names and addresses in letters or on parcels. Sometimes, no doubt, the failure is intentional; but often it is simple carelessness.

Business men now universally use correspordence paper and envelopes with printed addresses, and if for any reason their mall is not delivered, they find out the fact in due season. Private correspondence is generally conducted on the opposite plan, with the element also of all manner of carelessness.—Now Bedford Standard.
